LegalVIEW® BillAnalyzer - Proof of Concept

With millions of line items, thousands of firms, and limited in-house resources for legal bill review, you may be missing an opportunity to better manage costs and compliment your e-Billing technology. By combining artificial intelligence with human expertise, forward-thinking companies are fundamentally altering the invoice review process to realize additional savings.

That is where LegalVIEW® BillAnalyzer comes in. It combines human expertise with artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning to accurately and consistently apply billing guidelines to reduce and ultimately control costs. Specially trained, experienced reviewers identify and adjust billing guideline violations, as well as provide corrective recommendations using essential performance metrics. What's more, our AI modeling coupled with LegalVIEW data allows us to utilize your robust historical data to benchmark violation and other data trends to enhance the bill review process.

Our clients experience savings of 7% - 15% after law firms have the opportunity to correct invoice entries and remedy billing rule non-compliance. In many cases, we have seen clients realize significantly more savings.

For claims or legal departments looking to scale their legal bill review, we offer a no-obligation Proof of Concept designed to prove the value of this unique service offering. We use your billing guidelines with our automated systems and expert invoice reviewers to:

Examine a pre-specified number of invoices submitted and paid by you in the past, in order to determine the level of law firm and lawyer compliance with your billing guidelines.

Identify the likely range of principled fee and expense adjustments.

Provide detailed analyses of billing practices.

Recommend modifications and additions to billing guidelines.

Artificial intelligence and machine learning help expert reviewers consistently and accurately apply billing guidelines to reduce and ultimately control costs.
